

Teachers training for those working in the field of Special Education

RITMO VITAL – Music and Movement

We invite you to discover rhythm, not only as a musical element but also as a structure that is fundamental to stimulating the whole process of individual development. You are going to get acquainted with and identify your own characteristics and tendencies from a new point of view.

In this workshop, we are going to approach Rhythmics as it has been developed in Vienna with a didactic and practical focus. The method seeks to foster personal development, particularly in the areas of motorical, cognitive and socio-affective skills. Its primary pedagogical tool is rooted in movement - being a basic and intuitive human need - combined with music, voice, language and experimental exploration of different materials.

Combining these media which interact and complement each other mutually, we arrive at situations which trigger learning processes in the following areas:

- sharpening the senses, including perceptive dissociation and physical experiences
- development of creative capacities
- socio-affective and emotional learning

Saturday 7th September 2013

11 am to 2 pm at Casa Esmeralda, Virrey Avilés 3423 (Colegiales – CABA)

This workshop is part of the SIRBA 2013 – 2da Semana Internacional de la RITMICA en Buenos Aires 2013: www.sirba.com.ar

Costs: A$200

Inscription: info@ritmicavienna.com.ar

www.ritmicavienna.com.ar

CAROLINA ACEVEDO (Columbia/Austria)

Carolina studied Rhythmics (Music and Movement Education) at the University of Music and Performing Arts Vienna, placing her focus on special needs education.

Since 2007, she has been working as a teacher for infants (from the age of 1), adolescents, adults and senior citizens. Among these groups, there are also some with special needs and from socio-economically disadvantaged communities.

At the moment, she is living in Vienna where she is working for an arts & creative education institute (Rhythmik Studio) and as a freelancer in special needs education.